Our mission: to contribute to the development of the communities where we operate

UniCredit Foundation is a corporate foundation that was established in 2003 to contribute to the development of solidarity and philanthropy in the communities and territories in which it operates, primarily in the regions where UniCredit is present (14 countries including Europe and Central Asia). Through the transfer of financial resources and typical management skills of a company, UniCredit Foundation supports projects that are significant for their social impact and innovation, implemented by local non-profit organizations.

CENTRE OF PHILANTHROPIC COMPETENCE

UniCredit Foundation is a competence centre for UniCredit on issues of philanthropy and the third sector. In particular, the foundation offers advice and organises activities for the Group companies and their customers.

SUPPORTING SOCIAL ENTREPRENEURSHIP

UniCredit Foundation promotes social economy initiatives in the different countries in which UniCredit operates, in cooperation with institutions specialising in social entrepreneurship. By means of grants, training, consultancy, mentorship and networking, UniCredit Foundation is currently supporting social entrepreneurship and social innovation projects in Italy, Austria, the Czech Republic, Germany, Slovakia, Poland, Croatia, Serbia, Slovenia, Bulgaria, Romania, Russia, Hungary, Bosnia Herzegovina and Turkey, where over 100 social enterprises engaged in welfare services and job creation have now been established and consolidated.

INITIATIVE FOR UNICREDIT EMPLOYEES

UniCredit Foundation promotes a culture of volunteering and giving to the community through the dedicated efforts of all the employees, encouraging their participation in social activities and projects. Since 2003, UniCredit Foundation has organised an annual Gift Matching Program open to all UniCredit employees (over 117,000 people). Through this programme, the Foundation integrates the donations made by groups of employees of UniCredit for the benefit of non-profit organisations.

In 2011 a new initiative called “Your Choice, Your Project” was launched, a programme which, through a voting process, involves employees in the direct selection of projects to be supported in their own country.

Dear colleagues,

In 2016 the Gift Matching Program has again confirmed that it is an outstanding instrument of solidarity and social engagement for our Group: the outcomes speak for themselves. I can only start with a deeply felt and warm THANK YOU to all those who chose to dedicate time and energy to promote important social causes.

In these years, honoured to lead our Corporate Foundation, I did my best to develop these activities, having very clear in my mind that engaging our colleagues brings a double added value: to the direct beneficiaries of the initiatives, but also to our company.

I like to refer to the value theory as elaborated by Porter and Kramer in their article ‘Big Idea: Creating Shared Value’, published in the Harvard Business Review in 2011. A pillar of this paradigm is that this new capitalism attaches great strategic importance to the achievement of social goals while doing business. The model helps companies see solutions to social problems in specific territories as opportunities. The role of a Foundation like ours turns out to be crucial to strengthen the reputational capital of UniCredit but also – and I daresay especially – to enter new markets. Employee engagement is key in this perspective.

Consolidation of the Gift Matching Program consequently fits within a strategy that is also found in the Guidelines for 2015/2018 and that aims at building an ecosystem where employees can find their own way of giving momentum to our activities. The GMP is actually not the only project to emphasize the key role of employees, there are at least another two value chains linked to the GMP.

One is related to the initiative called ‘Your Choice, Your Project’. The mechanism is simple: after a national contest, or after a preliminary scouting in the different areas and the consequent selection process, employees are presented with the projects the Foundation will support in every single country. At this point, one mouse click is all they need to express their preference and tell the Foundation what initiative deserves extra funding. Thus, employees have the opportunity to participate directly in the decision-making processes that steer the Group’s philanthropic activities. Some colleagues go even farer, they step in first-hand and act directly as volunteers.

Lastly, the triad is completed by the mentoring offered by an ever-growing number of colleagues to the beneficiaries of the projects supported every year, with the aim of strengthening the social entrepreneurs who have already undertaken – or decided to undertake – actions to enter a new market. It is clear that the GMP is a key tile in a team play, which will continue to drive colleagues to give their time and skills first-hand.

Enjoy!

Maurizio Carrara
With 449 projects supported, 11,256 donations by employees totalling 2,362,126 euro (including the additional funds unlocked by UniCredit Foundation), in 2016 the Gift Matching Project was again confirmed to be the most comprehensive programme of all the propositions presented to the Group’s employees by the UniCredit Foundation. Last year’s edition has been the 14th. But what is the Gift Matching Program? First of all, this program matches the values the Group colleagues believe in. This is why the motivation and commitment to solidarity of each one of us is so strong.

As a matter of fact, the project aims at praising employees’ first-hand engagement: they can actively contribute to projects they particularly feel for. The mechanism is simple and well-known, by now. UniCredit Foundation integrates the donations made by groups of employees in favour of a non-profit organization of their choice, doubling the amounts until there are funds available. Generally, beneficiaries — which must meet the requirements defined in the Regulations issued every year by the Foundation — are identified by employees themselves. Donation groups are coordinated by some of them, who promote the projects in their role as coordinators. Or, it may also happen that employees participate in donation groups in favour of non-profit organizations endorsed by their local partner bank. In both cases (called Classic Option the former, Positive List Option the latter), Regulations require a minimum number of participants and a minimum donation per group, depending on the country.

With this mechanism, in 14 editions (from 2003 to 2016) the GMP supported 5,349 solidarity initiatives, with donations totalling 45 million euro (23.6 million have been donated by employees, another 21.4 million have come from the Foundation). These meaningful outcomes have been achieved above all thanks to the commitment and skills of the coordinators, who are the real propellers of the Gift Matching Program. They managed to engage an ever-growing number of colleagues in specific solidarity projects. Coordinators are also responsible for updating the donor colleagues on the progress of the relevant initiatives, with phone calls, meetings in person, sometimes even through Internet web sites and dedicated blogs.

In the following pages, before moving on with the summary overview of all the projects supported by the Gift Matching Program, you will meet some of the most active coordinators in the international UniCredit Foundation network, who tell us about the profound impact of the GMP on their personal and professional lives. The following pages are dedicated to them. Let’s start with Marco Ogliaro, who was appointed Ambassador of the Gift Matching Program in April 2017.

YOU CAN PARTICIPATE IN THREE EASY STEPS:

1. Choose a project from a non-profit organization, together with your colleagues
2. Donate from your personal current account
3. Go to the registration area of the GMP on the Group Intranet

UniCredit Foundation will double your donation

...but all donations made starting from January are eligible

Registration is open from October to November...

For more information, go to the dedicated Gift Matching Program page on the Group Intranet
The gold medal goes to Turkey, the silver medal to Croatia, and bronze goes to Italy. Austria follows very closely. This is the country ranking of the 2016 Gift Matching Program based on the number of colleagues engaged. As a matter of fact, on the shores of the Bosphorous Nur Erinç and Kerim Saklı (YapiKredi) engaged as many as 258 and 188 people, respectively. Mirko Hršak from Zagrebačka Banka conquered the second place, having involved 123 colleagues, while Marco Ogliaro (UniCredit), with 109 colleagues involved, ranks third. Then comes Helmut Siutz (UniCredit Bank Austria), who wins the wooden medal with 105 engagements.

The awards ceremony took place on the 5th of April 2017 at the UniCredit premises in piazza Gae Aulenti, Milan. The CEO of UniCredit, Jean Pierre Mustier, did the honours and before giving the awards, he emphasized the value of the commitment across the whole Group, first of all of the colleagues, in favour of the communities of reference. Marco Ogliaro was appointed new GMP Ambassador for Italy, while the colleagues Martin Šesták (Czech Republic) and Jana Voberová (Slovakia), both of UniCredit Bank Czech Republic and Slovakia, have been acknowledged for their commitment, which has led to the greatest increase in the number of colleagues engaged with respect to the previous edition (+85%). “The GMP adds value to my everyday work”, explained Voberová, “because it helps me share such a significant commitment with other colleagues and gives me the opportunity to do my bit to make the world around me a better place, supporting people who really need it.”

“People within UniCredit continue to express their solidarity and GMP 2016 numbers prove it”, added Carrara, “the support our colleagues offer to many non-profit organizations every year helps make our society not only more vibrant and productive but also more united, which is perhaps the most important thing.” The awards ceremony was completed by a round table, moderated by Alice Aricò from UniCredit Foundation and dedicated to sharing the best practices to engage employees in solidarity initiatives; the main contributors have been Anneliese Gfrerer (Germany), Dunja Prgomet (Croatia) and Luigino Raimondi (Italy).

How long have you been working in UniCredit and what do you do?
I have been working in UniCredit since 2003, I work in the organizational area and I am in charge of credit processes for young clients.

Hobbies?
I really love to read, even though since my kids were born the time I can dedicate to books drastically reduced. I really love to go to the cinema and sometimes I organize culinary trips in my region to taste top eno-gastronomic products. In addition I like to use the little free time I have to do some sports activities, taking advantage of the lunch break.

What does it mean for you to be nominated GMP ambassador?
It really was a very pleasant surprise that I wasn’t expecting at all. I felt very proud to be appointed last April and achieving such important results (from 60 people involved in 2015 to 109 in 2016) made me feel incredibly satisfied. I really am full of optimism.

What organisation do you support through the program?
I decided to help a reality that I know very well. It’s a group of volunteers from Moncalieri that I met three years ago through the mum of a school friend of my son. When I met this organization I felt confused: initially I couldn’t believe it could be possible to do so many things. I became interested out of curiosity but I was really impressed by the energy and consistency that these people put in this endeavour. For a very long time they spend from 3 to 5 months in Nicaragua to help people in difficulty especially mums with very young kids and victims of violent husbands. Thanks to the activities of the association “La ragnatela della solidarietà onlus” they were able to create some support structure that host these women that denounced with courage the abuse and are trying to recreate their life. The aim of the project is to enable them to emancipate and create the conditions to live on their own.

How are they supported?
There are many different initiatives. The project is wonderful because it is implemented on the spot, thanks to the creation of a support network made of trusted people. In many cases the support continues for years. In addition there are specific programmes to support the life of street children. In many years of activities the organization has created schools and kindergarten thanks to the intervention of social workers that raise the awareness of these children and offer a comprehensive educational program. It is a really a beautiful project which is achieving excellent results.

Would you like to go to Nicaragua and help?
Yes, I talked about it with my wife. But it is not a holiday and you need to be really prepared before going. And so far it is not possible since our kids are still very young. What I would really like to say is that these volunteers who really dedicate themselves to the others are really serious people. We know them very well. They do it with their full heart and with the spirit of true volunteers because they don’t receive any compensation for what they do.

What do you wish for the future?
Being able to involve more and more people in this activity and let people understand that the money will be spent in a good way for important things and not futile activities. I fortunately have a real network of friends from Liguria to Rome and I know the colleagues all over Italy. My next goal is to convince also those living in Palermo to give their contribution.

What is the key factor to involve the colleagues in the GMP according to you?
I think it is a strong belief in what you do. It is important to see that the person who suggests collecting money for a project is deeply motivated. It is important to understand that you are not giving money to an anonymous check account but to real people that challenge themselves in the local community because they strongly believe in what they do.
I've been participating to the GMP for many years, supporting Sermig (www.sermig.org) Arsenal of Peace, where I've been living for 25 years, as part of the fraternity. There, among various other things I manage – free of charge, actually contributing myself – the network of a 50 thousand square metre compound, which hosts a lot of activities and events, and the football field, so that the guests can feel like home. After recruitment and a basic course, the volunteers take part to a permanent training group. The group is crucial. The volunteers develop a deep bonding, a solidarity bringing us to share anytime we can, which never take more than a few hours to offer a hand to the patients. At Sermig, funds from public institutions, banks, EU and similar organizations account for no more than 7% of our financial statement. All the rest comes from ordinary people, who provide money, material, professionalism, time, patience, availability. Only in Turin, we can count on 1,100 volunteers who offer 2,800 hours a day to keep the Arsenal open every day.

I realize that my colleagues are happy to help me because they feel part of a collective undertaking that – with no special resources or skills – has set up a project that enables us to support every day those who are in need all around the world.

The initiative I chose to present is called ‘Fair IT’ and it helps us not only operate the IT systems of the three Arsenals – we can count on 1,100 volunteers who offer 2,800 hours a day to keep the Arsenal open every day. It promotes the use of technology for the benefit of the poor and the disadvantaged, and it helps us not only to operate the IT systems of the three Arsenals – but also gives missionaries all over the world access to technology.

As a matter of fact, Sermig implemented over 3,500 development projects all over the world, with no intermediaries, in Africa Tremila and in Jordan – but also give missionaries all over the world access to technology.

Laura was an example of professionalism and commitment for all of us, even in the most terrible stages of her illness: she gave a life lesson.

It is invaluable to be involved in humanitarian projects, to get support from our colleagues, and then see the satisfaction of those for whom the help was collected; helping someone makes you feel satisfied. The pleasure to help someone in need is a great motivation and driving force that encourages us to continue our commitment in this project. The Association “Kap ljubavi” Tomislavgrad - was founded almost seventeen years ago in Tomislavgrad, with the aim of helping socially endangered people in the area. The association includes eighteen active members of all ages and professions, who gathered around Fr. Jozo Radacic to provide help according to their profession and skills. All members are volunteers, who don’t receive any compensation for their support to poor people. The Association currently takes care of about two hundred families in the Tomislavgrad Municipality, although in the last years it has become known even in other cities like Livno, Kupres, Bugojno, Titoac, Nova Bilja, Banja Luka, Vitez, Mostar and others. The Association is well known also outside the borders of Bosnia and Herzegovina. Kap ljubavi supports disadvantaged people, offering home supplies, small repairs, cleaning, changing clothes (sick and helpless), delivery of firewood, delivery of water, regular visits to those who need medical assistance. In addition it takes care of the preparations in case of medical operation and purchase of medicines, diapers and other aids (glasses, crutches, wheelchairs, equipment for disabled, footwear, clothes, etc.). All the resources collected are the gifts of good people, and the result of the advocacy and action of the members of the Association throughout the year. One of the important facts is that everyone is viewed as a human, regardless of any form of difference (nationality, age, social status ...)… Engaging colleagues was definitely the easiest part of the communication. It is simply more than a job. I feel great satisfaction in knowing that many colleagues have been supporting this project for five years now - and they are happy to do so! And I will quote from an email sent by my colleague Marijus who has been a supporter of this project since the very beginning, but will soon leave the bank... I would also like to thank you. Thank you for the good collaboration, for the solidarity, for your trust, for the mutual laughing and simply for the fact, that it was more than a job to work with you. And I would like to wish you all the best for the future.

OPC supports socially disadvantaged children in Thailand and Myanmar. Poverty, oppression and exploitation are rife in this region. The best help to young people is to give them solid foundations enabling them to lead independent lives. In addition to our on-going project, we support individual ventures. We are currently sponsoring the Pyu Khinn School in Thailand, which teaches the children of Burmese migrant workers. For the most part, they belong to an ethnic group that is discriminated against in their home country. My love for Asia was born during a trekking tour in Asia in 1989. Since 1993 I have been involved in various projects in Tibet, India and Cambodia.

There are 16,000 blind people in Bulgaria but only 50 trained guide dogs. Buying a trained dog from another country costs more than € 25,000, which is an unbearable amount for disadvantaged people who are usually partially or totally incapacitated.

Eyes on Four Paws is the only foundation in Bulgaria providing a similar service to blind people. Their activity is funded only by donations.

The presence of a trained guide dog can be really life-changing, because it ensures:

• Integrity - blind people need the possibility to live normal life;
• Transparency – The dogs are given absolutely for free;
• Respect - people in need deserve to be respected, free members of the society.

The priceless thing is that we are doing something significant aware that our contribution can change their life.

The core message that was shared to engage the donors was: “I see the world through his eyes”. And here some of the thoughts by the colleagues: The campaign is great, I find reason in the cause, so I get involved in it.

The campaign is different. Typically, through donation campaigns, people collect money to help children or elderly people in a disadvantaged position. But I love also initiative involving dogs.

GMP is truly unique and speaks volumes about our corporate culture. GMP changes and shifts the boundaries of our environment and perception of the bank and banks. This year’s donations to the Loco Moto Association have helped to plant flowerbeds and vegetables and roses adapted to all people with disabilities (so-called raised beds and roses). I would describe both my role and the role of my colleagues in the GMP programme by resorting to the beautiful verses of the poem called Slap (Waterfall) by Dobrisa Cesaric

One waterfall flows and flows, and flows; What does my little drop mean in it? Look, a rainbow is being created in the water. And it shines and shivers in thousands of shades. That this dream could glisten in the waterfall. My drop helps to weave it. My “little drop”, together with my colleagues who participate in GMPs, makes a “rainbow” that helps our GMP to, as a “Waterfall”, flow and shine year after year. I am proud and happy to be part of the GMP story for ten years already, and I am glad to see that the number of colleagues joining in and the number of projects that we support have both been increasing.

I believe in civic-mindedness and I am frequently involved in social causes. It is my way of being, so I am very happy whenever I can offer my support to the community. One of my priorities was to do something for premature babies. Therefore, I joined UniCredit Gift Matching program for employees. I did not know anything about fundraising. I was not thinking about the challenges related to the flow, recruiting the team, the communication with the team and with the colleagues, how to organise an event but I was so firmly convinced by the project that I was able jump in it. One & One is a non-governmental association that defends the rights of parents with children of multiple pregnancies and/or premature babies, providing support during hospitalization and after discharge. Starting from 2013 the NGO helped over 300 families through their programs. How? Organising free parenting seminars and promoting free regular meetings with experts on important topics: health psychology, child rehabilitation, preemies follow up until 7 years old, healthy pregnancy, etc.

KEY FACTOR
The colleagues embraced and supported the scope of the association and I think the key to their engagement was the awareness about the importance of the mission we are supporting.

Thanks to the strong and long-term relationship developed with the Humanitarian Organization maliVeliki ljudi, established in 2007, we decided to provide once again significant support to our partners. maliVeliki ljudi aims at improving the quality of life of socially endangered children through various entertainment and educational events. Some years ago we have been building our relationship with Bethospice, the first specialised charity organisation in Serbia that provides palliative care to cancer patients during the last phase of their illness. Palliative care is an approach that improves the quality of life of patients and families facing severe illness. Other useful tools are early diagnosis and social, psychological and spiritual guidance.

Colleagues in UniCredit Bank showed to be very keen to participate in initiatives where they have the opportunity to show their humanity. It is in the human nature to feel pleased when you can help someone, especially when it comes to supporting children and patients with incurable diseases. Keeping employees interested in such initiatives is a long-term task that can be performed constantly only if you can show the outcomes. It is simply not enough just to engage colleagues once a year. Therefore we also have one very human and now even popular initiative here in Serbia: Old doll for a new smile. Before Christmas all the employees are giving old toys and clothes to the kids who are living in foster houses.

The participation in the project enable them to get to know and learn how to communicate with disabled people

UniCredit Bank in Saint-Petersburg has always been sensitive to social topics. The goals of our work are not only financial, we are very aware of the importance of improving the life of those who need our help.

This is why we were very glad to have the opportunity to take part to the GMP 2016 with the Project “Gift for the whole life”. The donations were used to help young people with mental and physical disorders, specifically those who live in sheltered institutions.

To avoid the risk of social isolation we work to develop creative skills, such as art-therapy and to train them on skills for the management of the family balance. The employees’ donations and participation in the project enable them to get to know and learn how to communicate with disabled people. Doing so, they can overcome their own stereotypes about the world of disabilities. The implementation of the project strengthens internal communication, develops corporate culture and the positioning of UniCredit as a socially responsible company. In addition it increases employees loyalty towards the Group itself.
In my opinion, GMP is one of the most transparent ways to financially support non-profit organizations. Through this project colleagues become active and join their forces: this is a crucial value added. It was a personal experience in our family to motivate me to help the Training School for Guide and Assistance Dogs. Their way of helping and the enthusiasm they show for what they do is contagious. Since 1995, more than 120 guide dogs have been trained and handed over to people with disabilities. Our donations are used to cover all the expenses for the dogs training and the management of the breeding station. Many colleagues have become regular contributors, supporters, promoters or adoptive parents of guide dogs. It is really a great feeling to realise that colleagues support you all year around and not just for one month. When they meet me, they often smile and then ask me: “How are you doing? Will your project be in the GMP next year, too? I would like to contribute as well.”

KEY FACTOR

I think that meeting the people from the Training School was crucial to motivate our colleagues. They were able to see directly whom we are supporting and the outcomes of our help.

Children with cancer

I decided to support “Children with cancer” because I am a volunteer in the foundation and I know what their goals and difficulties are. When you see the suffering in children's eyes and notice that they are still smiling, you feel motivated and try to activate all the resources that you can reach. Children's treatment may take long time and while they are under treatment they also need to play games and have fun. Their relatives are fighting both for their health and for the psychological support, and assistance with the medical and effect for treatment by the aid of psychological healing.

In those moments I understand that together with UniCredit Foundation, with the details of all the dreams that came true. In those moments I understand that we can really do something to make the world around us better.

Magic Lamp Foundation

“Pass it on, there is hope!” this is the slogan of the Magic Lamp Foundation and an invitation to do something positive in the world. I have been working for UniCredit Hungary for 10 years and participated in several initiatives endorsing noble goals. It is touching to see that so many colleagues are willing to help people in need. As a father, I am deeply engaged whenever children are involved. As an athlete, I've had several opportunities to run events while supporting a Foundation. Therefore, I was grateful to our Running Club for joining the movement of the Foundation, and I really hoped to become a contributing member. Since that time, when there are running events the majority of our members proudly wears the ‘Magic Bug’ runner T-shirt with the aim of supporting the activities of the Magic Lamp. The fact that our initiative was given donations from abroad was really the proof that the employees of a European organization can help without borders. All the people participating to the program know very well how good it feels to help those in need. It is really good to share this feeling with our colleagues within UniCredit. Everybody was engaged: from top managers to the colleagues sitting next to me. Magic Lamp Foundation aims at aiding children aged 3-18 suffering from life-threatening pathologies by making their wishes come true. Each year the Foundation fulfils the wishes of 260-300 ill children, besides providing them with emotional and psychological support, and assistance with the medical and healing process. Making a wish come true has a really positive effect for treatment by the aid of psychological healing. It is always heart-warming when we receive thanks from the Foundation, with the details of all the dreams that came true.

PEOPLE OUR JOINT EFFORTS
«Making good deeds is not enough, you also need to do it in a good way», said Diderot.

A lesson that is quite clear for all UniCredit employees. As it is shown by the numerous charity initiatives created and implemented by many colleagues in different local communities.

Associations, than turned into non-profit organizations, mirroring the awareness of having an important social role both as simple citizens and as employees of a company very focused on social responsibility. Supporting its employees in their charity activities, UniCredit Foundation contributed in building a unique corporate culture, which includes values such as solidarity, sharing and participation.

There are 76 non-profit organizations established and created by UniCredit employees; among these, 6 participated to the last edition of the Gift Matching Program: two in Piedmont (Credito&Solidarietà onlus and N.O.I di UniCredit - Nord Ovest Insieme onlus), two in Veneto (UniSolidarietà - UniCredit Vicenza per il sociale and UniVergona online), one in Trentino (Associazione Carlito per la solidarietà) and one in Friuli Venezia Giulia (Associazione UniCredit FVG per la solidarietà).

Luigino Raimondi, from Turin, 59 years old and he has been working in UniCredit for 36 years. He is in charge of UniCredit Subito Casa for the North-Western Area and president of N.O.I of UniCredit-Nord Ovest Insieme Onlus, the association established in Genova in 2011 to which more than one thousand colleagues from Liguria, Piedmont and Aosta Valley refer.

Which is the main feature of N.O.I of UniCredit?
Our strength is the full-time commitment to social solidarity activities and the use we make of the donations: we collect funds for people in need and for the associations that work in our territory. The meaning of our work, what really makes us very proud, is the awareness that our colleagues don’t see things only from a merely economic perspective but they are really able to go beyond this. They really put their heart in it.

What initiatives do you focus on?
We focus, mainly on social dinners and charity auctions at a local level. We are very active in the old building of the tax collection office in Turin in via XX Settembre which has become our Agorà hall were we organise charity events with hundreds of people. In 2016 our association funded directly or indirectly 22 projects but we are open also for events to be organised at the local community level. We never have preconceived ideas: we tailor our activities to the needs and requests of the moment.

Some examples?
We gave our support to two initiatives for the victims of the earthquake. The first one in cooperation with Genna newspaper Il Secolo XX e the Fondazione Specchio dei Tempi de La Stampa di Torino. The project was aimed at helping a school in Amatrice, which needed restructuring after last year’s earthquake.

The network of our associations started a fund collection and we added 3000 euro, coming from the 6 per thousand contribution collected in 2014, thus directly contributing to the 38 thousand euro collected. The second important initiative was the funds collection in cooperation with the magazine Val Susa (a publication issued by the local press) for an event in favour of the people living in Norcia. And it all started because Norcia’s bishop, Renato Bioccardo, comes originally from the Susa valley. Also in this case we added our contribution of 3000 euro to the collected amount of 54.000 euro. Another meaningful event took place in Genoa to give support to the local association that helps the families that are separating. We have organised an entertainment evening and we were able to collect 5000 euro.

We also organised a Christmas dinner to support Cirie Hospital in particular the neonatology ward where Ospedale Dolce Casa onlus is active. The goal was to be able to find the money to purchase a second thermic cradle (the first one was donated some years ago) for the cost of 7500 euro.

Do you have on-going projects?
Yes of course. For example we have a project in favour of the so-called “Moon Kids”. Four years ago we supported the specific need of Youssef Kassimi, a young boy coming originally from Magreb and living in Verona. Today Youssef is 18 years old and is affected by Xeroderma Pigmentosa, a genetic disease, which prevents people from exposing to the light because they risk to get burnt and to develop tumours. In order to live he needs to wear an anti ultraviolet rays protective clothing which is made in Lucca.

At that time we had contributed to the purchase of this equipment. When we came to know that he had to undergo another surgery in hospital and that he needed new protective clothing we felt motivated to support him again.

We got in touch with the company producing this special clothing (which costs approximately 8000 euro) and we were able to pay it half price and to help Youssef a second time.

How are you able to involve colleagues and donors in the activities of your association?
Thanks to my job I have a chance to get in touch with hundred, if not thousand of colleagues and real estate advisers. With all of them I started a real “campaign” of personal requests via e-mail and since we are supporting good causes it is easy to enlarge the basis and convince people to make at least a small donation.

What makes the difference in involving the colleagues in the GMP?
I think the most important thing is being ready to challenge oneself. Then all the rest follows...

After two interventions related to the post emergency period, it has continued its activities in South-Eastern Asia. The funds collected by Caritro were allocated to the project of training and education “A school in the jungle” in Myanmar. The second initiative was aimed at restructuring a school for street children in Itamaraju in Brazil, promoted by Arcorius Onlus located in Trento.
